“Personnel Services with a Personal Touch.” That’s the philosophy upon which Roses Ammon and Shelley Seibolt founded Staffing Kansas City. It served them well when they started the company 20 years ago, and it continues to give them a competitive advantage today.

Staffing Kansas City is an independently owned, WBE-certified, employment agency. With hands-on owners and powerhouse recruiters, clients know their office hiring needs are in good hands. Clients know they will always talk with someone they know and trust. Our professional recruiting staff typically works with the owners of small to medium-sized businesses and their human resources department managers. And top talent looks to Staffing Kansas City when seeking employment. They know it’s always beneficial to have “someone who knows someone” working for them and that their resume will go straight to the hiring manager.

As a full-service employment agency, Staffing Kansas City provides permanent, contract-to-hire and temporary placement services. We specialize in the placement of office support professionals, including, but not limited to, accounting, sales, marketing, administrative, reception, clerical and customer service positions.

We may be small, but we are mighty. Staffing Kansas City is not just another staffing agency—we are employment partners to our more than 800 clients. We continually upgrade our proprietary software to streamline processes and procedures. Our interview to placement ratio is 15 percent above industry standard.

We attribute our 20 years of success to our strong relationships with our clients and our genuine concern for our employees. We bring 70 years of collective experience to our clients.

Staffing Kansas City believes in giving back to the community. A percentage of profit goes to various charities, and we assist program attendees at Women’s Employment Network with interview skills and resume writing. ●
